EXTRACTS FROM THE STANDING RULES.

The young ladies boarding in the Institution will rise at the ringing of the bell in the morning, adjust their rooms, and be engaged in study till breakfast. And it shall be the duty of the Matron to see that this rule is complied with.

Collecting in any of the halls, boisterous talking and laughing, or the making of any unnecessary noise, in or out of study hours, will be considered a misdemeanor.

The young ladies will at no time be permitted to visit the post-office, nor will any one be permitted to go to town oftener than once a week, and then only in company with some member of the Faculty, or some one appointed by some member of the Faculty.

During the Sabbath day, walking on the streets or commons for pleasure, collecting in each other's rooms for idle conversation or amusement, as well as all practices prohibited in well-bred Christian families, and receiving visits, are totally forbidden.

Each student will be expected to attend Church in the forenoon on the Sabbath, at such place of worship as her parents or guardian may desire.

If any young lady shall know of any misdemeanor or violation of any of the rules of the Institution, by a scholar, and shall, when inquired of by any of the Faculty, refuse to give the name of such offender—she, by so refusing, shall be deemed guilty of a high offense, and be punished accordingly.

Each student will be required to have the lights in her room extinguished, and to retire at, or a quarter before ten o'clock; and the Steward shall see that the house is closed at ten o'clock.

The young ladies will not be permitted to make calls, except by permission of some member of the Faculty; nor to receive calls, except in the parlor, and in the presence of some member of the Faculty, or Matron; and in no instance will they attend any ball or party, or engage in any amusement forbidden by the Faculty.

No young lady shall be permitted to contract debts or buy goods, without the written consent of her parents or guardian; and a copy of such permission shall be handed to the President.

Young ladies boarding in the Institution will be under the protection of the Faculty. But the Faculty can not be responsible for the deportment of young ladies boarding out of the Institution, except during recitation hours.

SEMINARY.

The Fort Wayne Female College, incorporated by the Legislature of the state in the year 1846, has now been in successful operation for nearly seven years. It is situated in the most pleasant part of the city, commanding an extensive view of the town and country. It is under the patronage of the North and North-Western Indiana conferences.

The government of the Institution is mild, but decided. The Faculty will, at all times, exercise over the students a kind and parental supervision.

Pains will be taken to develop the intellectual powers, to train the mind to habits of close thought and reasoning, and to educate the heart in the purest principles of Christian morality.

A register of the merit of the students in their daily recitations is kept by each member of the Faculty; also, a register of demerit, in which absences from daily recitations, and all violations of the rules and regulations of the College are punctually recorded. An abstract of the standing of each student can be obtained by request of parent or guardian.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

EL DORADO LITERARY SOCIETY.

This Society was organized November 28, 1851, by the union of the Philosophian and Excelsior Societies

OFFICERS OF THE SOCIETY.

Miss J. Kilgore, President.
Miss A. A. Insley, Vice-President.
Miss M. J. Minar, Secretary.
Miss Julia Thomas, Corresponding Secretary.
Miss S. E. Bishoprick, Librarian.
Miss A. J. Trumbull, Treasurer.
Miss N. C. Sewell, Sentinel.

It is the duty of the President to preside according to the Constitution and By-Laws; which require her to deliver an inaugural address at the commencement of her term of office, and a valedictory at the close of the said term of office.

In the absence of the President the Vice-President presides.

It is the duty of the Secretary to journalize all the proceedings of the Society, call the roll, and file away all documents belonging to the Society.

The Corresponding Secretary writes all letters, notices, and articles for publication, which may be ordered by the Society.

The Treasurer receives all fees and donations, and invests the money as directed by the Society.

The Librarian takes care of the library, which contains two hundred and twenty-seven volumes.

The Sentinel aids the President to preserve order, and on public occasions she acts as marshal.

A young lady making application for membership shall be voted for by ballot, and shall receive a majority of the votes given; and when admitted to membership in the Society, she shall enroll her own name in a book containing the Constitution and By-Laws, as evidence that she will obey them. There are now fifty-five members.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

1. Calling the roll.
2. Reading a lesson from the Bible.
3. Reading the minutes.
4. Hear excuses from those who were absent at the previous meeting.
5. Reports of officers and committees.
6. Reception of new members.
7. Proposals for new members.
8. Unfinished business.
9. New business.
10. The Literary Exercises, consisting of Essays, Discussions, and Criticisms on the same, Colloquies and original addresses.

Participating in these exercises and practicing Parliamentary Rules greatly aid young ladies to think for themselves, and thereby enrich their own minds with practical wisdom.

Revised by a committee of the Society and published by request.

C. A. LEMON, Chairman.

EXTRACTS FROM CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS.

The object of this Society shall be mental improvement, advancement in literary attainments, and a practical knowledge of Parliamentary usages.

The officers shall be elected by ballot.

It shall be the duty of the President to preside at all meetings of the Society, appoint committees to conduct elections, examine reports, and act as critic; at the beginning of his term of office he shall deliver an inaugural address, and at the close of said term of office shall deliver a valedictory.

The Vice-President shall preside in the absence of the President.

The Secretary shall journalize all proceedings of the Society.

The Corresponding Secretary shall conduct the correspondence of the Society.

The Treasurer shall have charge of all funds belonging to the Society, and at the close of his term of office shall report the condition of the Treasury.

The Chaplain shall open each meeting with prayer.

The Librarian shall have charge of the library.

The Watchman shall act as door-keeper.

The Society shall have power to levy and collect taxes, sufficient to defray the expenses of the Society.

The initiation fee is fifty cents.

No individual can become a member of the Society unless he is a student in College. A member of the Society can not hold more than one office at a time, unless by a vote of two-thirds of the members present.

There shall be a question debated at each regular meeting—which shall have been selected at a previous meeting—by six debaters, three on each side, and the Society shall decide on the merit of argument. All resolutions shall be presented to the President in writing.

During the time of holding elections all persons who are not regular members shall retire. The Constitution and By-Laws may be altered or amended by a two-thirds vote.
